

Assessment Accomplished: Tools, Methods, and Best Practices for Your PE Program

A Special Day at your School or District:

This workshop provides teachers of physical education, as well as those who evaluate them, a wide variety of assessments covering the three learning domains: psychomotor, cognitive, and affective. Teachers learn best practices for assessing in PE, including how to keep classes engaged in MVPA during assessments. Trainings include discussion on Teacher and Program assessment, with more time in the full-day to practice several methods. Teachers will leave the workshop with a solid collection of tools, methods, and best practices to implement active assessment in their programs. This workshop is a must for any quality physical education program where teaching to the standards is expected.

Program Objectives/Outcomes – participants will:

- Explain the importance of assessment to your students
- Execute at least 15 different assessments appropriate for students in K-12
- Utilize a variety of best practices when assessing students
